What we talked about

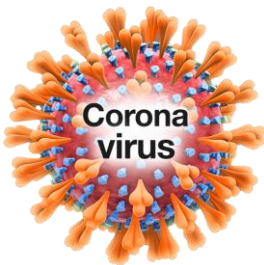

Hello and welcome

Zoom rules

Dale Goodfellow is unable to come to our next meeting to talk about key workers and reviews. He will book in another time to come to HYS.

We needed a new topic for our next meeting. HYS already had a meeting topic that people had asked to talk about but that had not been planned in yet.

This topic was living our lives when Covid is still here

HYS agreed that this would make a good topic for our next meeting.

What we talked about

HYS talked about what areas we should cover when talking about this topic. This included

How is our mental health and what can help

Is support still be affected

Examples given included transport and getting support in new ways due to staff shortages.

How do people feel about getting back to face to face HYS meetings.

Anything else that is important for us to know but has not been covered.

What we talked about

A HYS member who was not at our last meeting wanted to add their thoughts on updating support information. This included

The way that questions are worded can feel patronising sometimes.

Gayle: Sometimes questions are written in a simple way to make sure lots of different people can understand them.

Updating support information everyday for example, contact sheets can become too much.

Being able to talk about different ways this could be done would be helpful. Otherwise it can be hard to know what options you have.

What we talked about

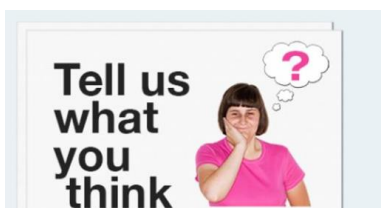

It can be hard to say you are not happy about your support. it is a difficult conversation to have.

HYS were then happy to agree the minutes from our last meeting

The trial guides to let new staff know what is important to you have been posted out so should arrive soon.

Evaluations will be out soon so please look out for this. If anyone would like support to complete their evaluation then please let Gayle know.

Staffing levels

Not everyone is getting their full 1:1 support hours. This can be

- reduced hours
- getting group support instead of 1:1 support
- shorter 2:1 shifts are harder to cover in some support services.

There can be a lot of changes to rotas which is confusing and stressful.

The missed support hours are not given back and some people are unsure why this is.

Another HYS member mentioned that they are not able to use staff cars the way that they used to. This means they can't always do the things they enjoy.

What we talked about

When Covid and lockdown started, Linda Tuthill had talked about have an Action Group party once it was safe to do so.

HYS would like to know more about when this will happen.

A HYS member attended TAG Talks and was able to Ask Danny Hayward and Linda Tuthill questions raised at HYS. This included

- Using staff cars
- Having an Action Group Party
- How are The Action Group letting people know that we are looking for staff.

We will share this information a our next HYS meeting .

What we talked about

At our last meeting there was a lot of information to take in and it was hard to follow the agenda.

Today's meeting ran well and was easy to follow the meeting topics .

Thank you for coming to the meeting
